Whats new:

With over 10 years of Zero production experience we have now developed the Second Generation car compiling a decade of refinements into one simple to order package.

'The second generation Zero is far from a typical kit car, there are vast improvements that takes away the challenges normally associated with self builds whilst still providing a rewarding build experience'.

Numerous refinements have been incorporated as standard to not only improve the building experience of a Zero but also to ensure a high quality and safe vehicle when built. The Zero has an unprecedented handling due to its 50/50 weight distribution achieved by moving the engine rearward from the front axle, this is complimented by fully independent front and rear suspension arms.'
